

Festkolloquium
“In celebration of 47 years of exhilarating years of geology”
Prof. Dr. Mark Handy

Coffee

- 9:30-9:45 Introduction
- 9:45-10:05 Marco Herwegh (Univ. Bern)
From Rifting over Grain Scale Processes to Late-Stage Collision
- 10:05-10:25 Florian Fousseis (Univ. Edinburgh)
X-Rays of Juicy Shear Zones
- 10:25-10:45 Jochen Babist (Geo-Naturpark Bergstrasse-Odenwald)
From Structural Geology to Mining and Landscape Archaeology – Opportunities and Perspectives for Geo-education in Geoparks

Coffee

- 11:15-11:35 Andreas Mulch (Senckenberg Naturmuseum/Univ. Frankfurt)
Many of my faults seem normal...at least most of the time
- 11:35-11:55 Ulrich Riller (Univ. Hamburg)
Large meteorite impact cratering: Some extreme characteristics of crustal deformation
- 11:55-12:15 Kamil Ustaszewski (Univ. Jena)
Vertical motions as indicators of active tectonic deformation. Case studies from the Zagros and Dinarides Fold-and-Thrust Belts

Lunch

- 14:00-14:20 Claudio Rosenberg (Sorbonne Univ.)
My Encounter with Mark Handy and a Short History of Geological Cross Sections
- 14:20-14:40 György Hetényi (Univ. Lausanne)
6
- 14:40-15:00 Emanuel Kaestle (FU-Berlin)
Tomographic Images and the Difficulties in Interpreting Them

Tea

- 15:20-15:40 Eline Le Breton (FU-Berlin)
Looking back on 10 years working with Mark on Adria and the Alps
- 15:40-16:00 Stefan Schmid (ETH-Zürich)
Der Adriatische Indenter: Ist er wirklich ein Indenter oder eben doch nicht?
- 16:00-16:20 Marc Grund
„Der Professor aus der Sicht des Doktoranden“
- 16:20 -16:50 Mark Handy (FU-Berlin)
It ain't over till it's over oder Noch nicht am Ziel, aber näher dran