Abstract PhD Research Project

“The Relationship between Socioeconomic Integration and Spatial Differences of Generations of Turkish Women in Berlin”

This research attempts to discover the differences of spatial practices of Turkish women or women who have Turkish background that have the feeling of being ‘excluded’ or being ‘included’. Those feelings shape identity, spatial practices and status of citizenship; therefore they are also related to integration process and public policies. Thus socioeconomic integration of generations of Turkish women in Berlin will be studied in order to construct the research in a comprehensive way. In other meaning, this research has an aim to show diversity in generations of Turkish women while thinking of socioeconomic integration and as a result, the variety of the assumptions and utilizing the spaces in the Berlin city where the population of Turkish immigrant is the highest.
